

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

For permission to use the various archives which I have consulted, I express my thanks to the bishops, rectors and archivists concerned. I am most grateful for the facilities afforded me and for the patience and consideration shown me.

I express my gratitude also to the trustees of the Columba Trust for their generous grant towards the expenses of publication; to Mgr. David McRoberts for his encouragement and advice; to various "old Spaniards," now priests in Scotland, who have taken the trouble to give me their recollections of life in the college earlier this century; and to my companions in Valladolid, fellow-members of the community, many of whom have actively helped me and all of whom have endured with genuine Christian fortitude my loquacity on the subject of the Scots College in Spain.

Valladolid, 1st January 1971.